CALDWELL COUNTY CAN SELL HITCHRACK, ATTORNEY SAYS

Equalization Fund, Pollard Points Out

The tax rates recommended by the Caldwell County and Princeton Boards of Education and approved Tuesday afternoon by the Equalization Fund, Pollard points out that the tax rate for the county is $1.30 for the county and $1.42 for the city. From this rate the Caldwell County system will get $50,086.00 or $2,768.10 less than last year when the tax rate was $1.50. Princeton will receive $65,653.00 or $14,899.30 more than last year when the rate was $1.60. "We should like to point out," Pollard said, "that we are getting any equalization and at all and are receiving $800 less on the per capita basis."

Equalization last year was $34.53. This has been lost mainly because the tax rate has been lowered to below $1.50. Pollard said. In addition, the budget is set up for increased expenditures of $8,044.00 over last year.

Last year also extra receipts made it possible to pay $4,691.67 bonded indebtedness and $3,088.00 on holding company bonds. This came from the sinking fund, the rate for which was 7 cents. This year's rate is 7 cents.

"We don't expect to be able to make any such payments this year," Mr. Pollard said. Total budget of Princeton schools is $127,398.13 and of Caldwell county schools is $126,351. The total in the county budget is about the same as last year. Superintendent Clifton Clift said.

The Princeton schools budget broken down into: administration or general, $8,899.50; instruction, $90,938.25; operation school plant, $11,100; maintenance school plant, $3,900; fixed charges, $838.59; auxiliary services. (Please turn to Page Seven)

Assessment Missed Mark But Is Good Start Toward Goal

(EDITORIAL)

The re-assessment project, to fix a base for payment of 1948 taxes in Caldwell county, is almost finished . . . with considerable satisfaction to a majority of those concerned. The new total evaluation will be, according to Commissioner of Revenue H. Clyde Reeves' estimate, $11,500,000, as compared to $6,000,000 for 1947. Mr. Reeves said he had obtained assurances the tax rate will be fixed so property owners will not pay more on their 1948 assessments than they did the previous year.

The new property evaluation leaves the way clear for progress in the community, inasmuch as tax rates can be fixed in future years to provide revenue needed for improvement of schools and other services for which the people are willing to pay.

The tax rate, of course, is fixed locally, by the Fiscal Court, so what property owners will pay in future years is in the hands of home folk. That much was gained in the re-assessment effort every fair-minded person who understands the outcome will agree. That it failed to accomplish its goal . . . raising all assessments to the State average, or 56 percent of a fair cash value, is equally plain.

We knew at the outset, from experience gained elsewhere, that any attempt to bring about an equitable tax level here in one swift season's effort, was doomed to failure. The re-assessment needs to be done annually over a period of years to get even a substantial majority of the taxpayers on a fairly equal basis. If outside professional experts had been hired to do the job and plenty of time had been taken, a better and fairer level of assessments undoubtedly would have resulted.

Mr. Reeves, it seems to us, may have wearied of well doing a little too rapidly; for after only one day of sitting in on the hearings himself, he made what appears to us a surrender and, in his official statement for publication, reversed his stand of the last several weeks . . . that there were far too many gross inequities in the work of the County Board of Supervisors.

We will gladly go along with Mr. Reeves when he says that the Board of Supervisors did a fairly good job . . . for by comparison with previous tax assessing work here, the recent Board of Supervisors did an excellent job . . . in that it tried, in long and arduous sessions, to put property upon something like a fair basis, as between neighbors.

The fact is that heretofore we have had giving in of tax lists by property owners, rather than any real effort at assessments. But to say that this assessment is a good one is, we believe, to dodge some obvious shortcomings. Mr. Reeves himself admits there is a differential of 30 to 50 percent in values placed on individual pieces of property; and this leaves us with some of our property owners paying the taxes . . . or part of the taxes, of some other citizens; which obviously is not fair.

A good many citizens, believing that Commissioner Reeves would see to it that there was not too much differentiation, deliberate or accidental, in this re-assessment result, voluntarily increased their listings to what they and the State agents decided was 56 percent of fair cash value on today's market. Others, feeling that the raises were coming regardless of what they said or did, entered no protest against higher assessments. All of these, or many of them, will now be assessed at something like 20 to 25 percent more than those who, on Mr. Reeves' ruling, now get full benefit of their protests, the lower listings by the Board of Supervisors, and the final action of the State Tax Commission.

Killer Saws Way Out Of Jail As Case Nears Trial

Continuances Are Numerous At June Term; Grand Jury Returns No Indictments

Bowers Morse, Negro, charged with murder in the death in 1926 of Fannie Riley, Negro, escaped from the Caldwell county jail Saturday night by sawing through the bars of the bullpen window, Sheriff Otho Towry said.

Officials do not know how the saw came into his possession, they said. According to Sheriff Towry, it was thought Morse was locked in his cell, whereas he was in the larger room. The bars, which had been sawed through once before, were fastened by a brace, making the job comparatively simple, the sheriff said.

Morse had been returned to Princeton early this year to face trial after an absence of 23 years from the State. Cases called for this term of Circuit Court and continued to the next include Maurice Calhoun, Jeff Glass and Gilliam Wigginton, all charged with grand larceny; John Halle, Jr., and Hardy Willoby, both charged with assault and battery; Evie White, carrying concealed a deadly weapon. The charges against Charles Hankins, Jr., of grand larceny, assault and battery, and tampering with parts of a vehicle on a highway, were continued to the October term.

Charges of assault and battery and trespass against Barney Glass were dismissed. The cases of Will Dunning, Flora Dunning and Ethel Egbert, all charged with false swearing, were to be called Wednesday, June 15. The case of Mrs. R. E. Cook, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, is set for Wednesday, June 22.

On the probation docket are William Thomason, Orvil Riley, Bobbie Jones, Clint Jones, Bobbie Coleman, Jr., Hoover Pettit, Will Faulkner, Robert Levell, James Mimms, W. T. Harris, Chester Lee, Herbert Frazer, Clyde Polk, Jr., James W. Sleeth, Herman Russell, Billie Dillingham, Max Robinette, and George Payne. On the continued probation docket are Clarence Cook, Ulysses Gray, Alvin Smiley, Fred T. Kennedy and Taylor Wilkins.

The grand jury, which will meet again Friday, June 24, has returned no indictments this term.

No Restriction In Property Deed, Leader Advised

Blot In Heart Of City Can Be Eliminated With Financial And Health Benefits To Community, C. A. Pepper Declares; County Attorney Thinks "Use" Must Be Continued; Two Concerns Recently Interested, Report

The ancient myth that somebody left by will the corner lot at Harrison and Market streets to the county as a gift, to be used in perpetuity as a hitch-lot . . . is just a myth and has no basis in fact, according to a communication received by The Leader editor this week from C. A. Pepper, a leading attorney of this city for the last three decades. "The county owns this property in fee simple title and there are no restrictions in the deed . . . and the county could, if it so desired, convey the same and make a good marketable deed conveying a good and marketable title to it," says Mr. Pepper's letter.

As city attorney, Mr. Pepper twice examined the county's title to the hitchrack property, he told The Leader, and he is certain the county can sell this lot to any person or company that wants to buy it.

For years there has been strong sentiment here to eliminate the hitchrack lot, which many persons believe to be a menace to health, but always the old story about how the county came by this property seemed to bar the way toward making this major improvement in the heart of the downtown section.

When asked about the county's title to the property this week, County Attorney Clausine Baker said the deed read "for the use and benefit of the county" and that he construed this to mean the county could not sell the lot but must "use it." Mr. Pepper's opinion is contrary to this.

Recently, it is reported, the Southern Bell Telephone Company sought to buy this lot, upon which to erect its modern building, now on the lot at the corner of Main and Donivan streets. It is also reported that the Red Front Stores negotiated for this property to no avail. A business building on the old hitchrack lot would materially improve the business section, many citizens believe, as well as eliminate a breeding place for flies and menace to health.

Mr. Pepper's letter in full follows: Law Offices of CHARLES A. PEPPER, Princeton, Kentucky, June 11, 1949. Mr. G. M. Pedley, Princeton Leader, Princeton, Kentucky. My dear Grayson: Word has come to me in a round about way that you were interested in whether or not the county owned the lot on the corner of North Harrison and Market Streets, in Princeton, Kentucky, commonly known as the hitchrack.

For your information I beg to advise that the county does own this property in fee simple title and that there are no restrictions in the deed and the county could if it so desired convey same and make a good and sufficient deed of general warranty conveying a good and marketable fee simple title to it. You will find the county's deed recorded in Deed Book 7, page 345, Caldwell County Court Clerk's office, if you desire to read it.

I am not suggesting that the property be sold as I am not interested in it one way or the other but for many years there has been rumored here that (Please turn to Page Seven)

Stamp Out The White Plague

Opportunity, they say, knocks only once, but the mobile X-ray unit of the State Health Department is proving the exception to the rule.

This is the third consecutive year since the close of the war this unit, which will arrive Tuesday, has been in Princeton to offer, free of charge, an opportunity for Caldwell countians to know, for sure, whether they have tuberculosis.

The White Plague is no longer a death sentence. It, like many other diseases, can be cured—if caught in time. The more quickly it is discovered, the more easily it is cured. It is a debt owed to oneself to take advantage of the free X-ray, not only for one's own health but also because of the danger of unknowingly spreading the disease.

The Elks Lodge of Princeton has contributed to the purchase of these mobile units because its members believed this to be a worthy cause. It is up to the people of Caldwell county to show them their generosity is appreciated by giving up a little of their time to help eradicate tuberculosis from Kentucky.

Employers should be enough interested in this program to permit workers a few minutes off sometime during the unit's stay here so they may have X-rays made. Don't let a single person have a chance to say, "I would have gone, but I didn't have time."

This is one way to make Caldwell healthier; and a healthier county is a happier county.

White Collar Folk Have Innings

For the first time since many persons can remember, the "White Collar" people are having a major effect upon the nation's economy, even perhaps providing the dominant factor in the present decline of prices for merchandise.

Usually caught in the vicious price spiral which results when organized labor strikes for, and obtains, higher wages . . . and manufacturers increase their prices to keep pace with this rise in their overhead, the unorganized workers in offices, stores, shops, on farms and elsewhere . . . recently estimated at about 22,000,000 persons, have decided they will save their money until a dollar will purchase more and better value than at present . . . and this attitude on the part of the White Collar folk is having the effect of ending strikes with small gains for workers in the way of higher wages and of bringing down costs at the wholesale and manufacturers' levels.

This, to us, is an excellent sign, perhaps the best we have observed in a long, long time, since it seems to give new guarantee that a democracy will work if the people determine it shall.

We have long had in this country a government by pressure groups and the White Collar folk have come out, invariably, at the little end of the horn.

If by their saving and non-buying of goods which has for years moved steadily upward in price, they can end the inflation spiral and restore a modicum of normalcy to the national business scheme they will have performed a great service to all the people of the country in restoring stability, faith in the future and a far better business background upon which to build a better nation.

A Job For Both Parties

The vast project to give the American people an efficient administration of their federal government was initiated by Congress as a nonpartisan enterprise, was carried on by the Hoover Commission on that basis, and should be put into effect by both parties in that spirit.

Somebody on the Republican National Committee has taken excerpts from perfectly proper speeches by Mr. Hoover and inserted them in radio records as answers to questions by Republican congressmen. By this misleading device they make it appear that the former President is joining the congressmen in harsh denunciation of a spendthrift Democratic administration.

The Republican National Committee should apologize and recall these records—and quickly. The Democrats are asking for equal time on the radio to reply. In special cases this may be justified, but we should judge that the Republicans have lost more than they gained by this blunder, and that it would be better now to wipe the slate clean and keep the Hoover reforms clear of party bickering.

It will be almost impossible to get these reforms adopted—much less carried out—without genuine nonpartisan support. If they win, there will be plenty of credit for both parties. And if the voters get really interested, promotions of the Hoover reforms may become good politics in the most practical sense.

For the sake of effective government as well as for savings the American people should emphatically warn politicians who would mess up this opportunity with petty partisanship. If they will take a bit of time to look at the antiquated machinery the Hoover Commission has exposed, and to note a few of the improvements offered, they will put politics in its place.

The commission in its concluding report summarizes its work under such heads as these: Executive Authority and Accountability; Sharpening the Tools of Management; Wastes of Overlapping and Duplication; Red Tape; Decentralization Under Centralized Control; Reorganization by Major Purpose. It has found, for instance, such waste as the red tape which makes the paper work involved cost as much as the articles bought. It has found that the government has records stored in valuable space six times as great as the Pentagon Building. It has found that at no point is there a complete picture of fiscal affairs. It has found a laxity which permits a clerical error adding $30,000,000 to the budget to go unnoticed.

The basic purpose of the Hoover reforms is to reshape federal administration so that it will have something of the order and efficiency any successful business is forced to develop. Their general approach is to set up direct lines of authority and responsibility. Even a little study of the commission's work will persuade most citizens that these reforms can not only save money but, by giving democracy more effective instruments, have a large part in saving free government itself.

This newspaper considers them so important that it will run a series of numbered editorials, of which this is the first, designed to explain and support the major sections of the project.

Community Week Is Whopper

By Ewing Galloway

Bowling Green's Community Week was a whopper.

Started on a Sunday, and all the city's preachers spoke about the church's responsibility to the community.

Organizations participating included the Rotary, Kiwanis, Homemakers Clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Western State College Trade School, the R. E. A., the city schools, League of Women Voters, Business and Professional Women, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Junior Chamber of Commerce. About 40 women's organizations participated.

Charging a penny fee for voting for the community mother of the year, the Business and Professional Women raised $600 for the Bowling Green Youth Center.

The Committee for Kentucky was represented by Executive Director Maurice D. Bement, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Armstrong. The third Armstrong, Bill, put on a community-program motion picture show.

Purpose of the program was to stimulate interest in civic progress. And it was so successful that civic leaders are already planning a similar program for 1950.

The Harrison County Recreation Board says that in the nine months ending in February, it attracted 32,154 spectators and players. Cash receipts were $5,645, which covered expenses and left about $60 in the treasury.

Clay recently celebrated a week by conducting a blitz against rubbish and other unsightly or unsanitary objects, and according to the Clay Tribune's editors, Ted Stanton, Sr., and Ted, Junior, the town is so clean now that you couldn't find a tin can in an alley or an old cardboard box in a back yard.

"May I Wait on You, Please?"

is the form of greeting Krenge employees use to find out what prospective customers in their stores are interested in buying, according to a copy of that great concern's 50th anniversary brochure, sent me recently by an old college friend, Franklin P. Williams, who is a director and vice president in charge of merchandising.

This friendly, yet not too familiar, greeting seems much nicer to me than "What's For You?" heard so often these days, here and elsewhere. As jobs become more valuable again with advance of the disinflation (and they are sure to become so) maybe we will see more attention paid to the amenities in the marts of trade. For it is a well known fact nothing pays such large dividends as politeness.

Beyond the Horizon

From the dawn of human history, man has stood by the seaside and gazed with awe and fascination across the endless expanse of rolling waters.

And as he stood, he wondered what secrets lay buried in the sea's vast bosom and what strange lands and peoples and adventures were out there beyond the point where the sky seemed to drop down to meet the sea.

The unknown has always presented a mystery and a challenge to mankind. Many have faced it with fear and shrinking. Others have accepted its challenge and have opened up new vistas of human knowledge.

Those who put their trust in God and His Church need have no fear of what lies beyond the oceans of water, the oceans of human experience, or the oceans of human thought. For the land and the sea are God's, and He rules in the Kingdom of men.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The experienced woods worker draws a fine line in cutting low stumps. He cuts just above the cross grain of the root swell, but low enough to get every board foot possible in the first butt log.

Cutting low stumps is a matter of money in your pocket. Cutting a tree as much as only a foot too high may mean a loss of from 4 to 20 board feet, depending upon the diameter of the tree. Every board which is one inch thick, twelve inches long and twelve inches wide can be cut out of usable material left in the stump is one board foot lost. And that is an extravagance considering the prices that are now being paid for lumber.

Of course, in walnut and other woods admired for the burl at

Bill Gay, one of the heroes of last year's 14-14 Southern California tie, is expected to play left half. the top of the root system, the stump is more valuable than the trunk. It is dug out, sold separately, and cut into high-priced thin veneers.

But getting back to ordinary logs, you will want to remember that usable log material left in the top of felled trees is another source of waste. Such waste may have been alright in the days when we had more wood than we knew what to do with, but it is regarded as an extravagance today. The more profitable practice is to cut low stumps and short tops, putting all good wood in between into salable logs of products.

THE GARDEN

A NUMBER OF THINGS --

By John S. Gardner,

Dry Weather.—The writer's thinking may be colored by Lexington conditions, but elsewhere in the state, too, rainfall has slackened, and "drought cultivating" would seem to be the practice to follow. This is to stop deep working of all crops and substitute "scraping" or "scalping" or shallow stirring, leaving the soil surface as level as may be. Later vegetable sowings should be "listed," in shallow trenches, to put the seed in deeper, more moist soil. Possibly, lawn clippings might be used as mulch material about tomatoes, along bean rows and late cabbage, just in case that rains from now on are few and far between.

Tomato Blight.—This disease always threatens, and when it has come, it is too late to do much about it. Rather, it is a matter of prevention, covering the plants with an armor that the germs, blowing about in the air, cannot penetrate. The time for the first spraying is when the first fruits are about the size of a pea or soon after. If no spraying has been done, that time is now. Two more should follow, 10 days apart. Covering should be complete, leaves, stems and fruit. The material is "copper," and the list of trade names is legion, practically all neighborhoods in the state being supplied with one or another. The spraying kind contains about 45% metallic copper, and the "recipe" for using is two level tablespoons per gallon of water. The "coppers" come also in dust

ILLINOIS-CENTRAL RAILROAD

MAIN LINE OF MID-AMERICA

Modern signal systems guide faster, heavier trains—and more of them—safely to their destinations.

Today's signals help move freight trains so efficiently that the average cost to shippers last year was only 10½ per cent greater than in 1921, although the average wage paid Illinois Central workers increased 106 per cent.

Improvements such as these stand guard between you and the high material and wage costs that otherwise would raise freight rates to equally high levels.

Last year the Illinois Central spent $23,641,000 on new equipment and other improvements, all purchased to help us to earn your continued friendship and patronage.

Pasteurization Stressed For Safe Milk Supply

Following the proclamation by Governor Earle C. Clements of the month of June as Dairy Month, Dr. Bruce Underwood, State health commissioner, said "Milk is our most important food for every member of the family. Milk and dairy products are rich in the food elements needed for health protection, but they must be handled in a clean and sanitary manner. Pasteurization of all dairy products is their greatest safeguard. Unpasteurized milk and dairy products can be the source of serious illness, such as undulant fever food poisonings, typhoid fever and septic sore throat when milk is exposed to contamination."

Children should drink a pint and a half to one quart of milk a day, and adults, at least one pint daily, Miss Neff said.

Robert S. Jacob, Caldwell county sanitarian, regularly submits samples of milk from Caldwell county producers to the State laboratory for tests as to purity.

When tests show the milk is not meeting required purity standards, conferences are held with the producers and measures recommended for remedying the causes.

In some instances milk samples have not met required purity tests and constant vigilance on the part of the Health Department personnel is practiced to insure the public of milk supply which meets the purity tests requirements, Dr. W. L. Cash, director, said.

Pound Of Flesh

Des Moines, Iowa—(AP)—When is it profitable to add another 50 pounds to your hog, and when is it better to ship the porker to market? A table based on studies by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and state experiment stations shows that you can add 50 pounds to a 200-pound hog with less corn than a fatter hog. It works like this. To fatten a hog from 200 to 250 pounds it takes 4.5 bushels of corn; to boost from 225 to 275 it takes 4.6 bushels; from 250 to 300 it takes 4.8 bushels; and from 275 to 325 it takes 4.9 bushels.

By Francis W. Carpenter
Behind The Curtain, by John Gunther (Harper; $3)

Closely inspection of Communism in and around the Iron Curtain has convinced John Gunther the best way for Americans to fight Communism is to keep their own house in order. Gunther and his wife saw what the Americans are doing in Greece and Turkey and Italy; were permitted to visit four Iron Curtain countries, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland; and stopped at Vienna, Berlin, Paris, and London. Then he came up with his counsel to Americans:

"Americans have, it would seem, two prime duties: to try to understand fully and without blinkers every facet of what Russia means and is, and to maintain our own house in good order. The way to deal with internal threats of Communism is to improve ourselves; the way to stop Russia without war is to make America itself better." Known for other books called "Inside U. S. A." and "Inside Europe", and the like, Gunther says he was almost tempted to call this one "Inside Outside Russia." He believes the Stalin-Tito break was "on the level." He predicts that the split between the national and international conceptions of Communist society may eventually turn out to be a decisive factor in the future of all these Iron Curtain countries. He makes the flat statement that none of the "puppet states" is equipped for war, is capable of fighting a serious war or wants war. He says the basic attitude of these countries to the United States is "compounded of respect for our power, ignorance and fear."

He says the overriding impression the visitor will get in the Iron Curtain countries is "poverty". But despite that poverty, he tells of only one case of personal corruption.

Gunther's book does not contain much material that has not already been covered in reports of newsmen on the spot or by special stories of correspondents who have come home. It is notable mostly for the impression this observer of the international scene has formed after his own tour through the Soviet fringe.

One major point he makes is that much of the trouble between Russian and the other nations is "Russian ignorance." On the whole, he finds Americans abroad are doing a good job, with some officers praised highly here and there.

The loot in the average 1948 holdup was more than $200.

Electrical Process Cuts Dehorning Time Greatly

Clemson, S. C.—AP—Calves can be dehorned by electricity in less than the time now required, J. P. Lamaster, chief of the South Carolina Experiment Dairy Station, disclosed the method.

The new method has been so successful experimentally that for the past six months all new calves in our dairy herd at Clemson have been electrically dehorned," Lamaster said.

The experimental electrical dehorner consists of a conventional soldering iron with a specially modified head or tip. Placing the hot iron in contact with the horn-producing cells at the base of the hornbutton kills the cells and prevents the horn from developing.

Only 2 1-2 minutes are required to complete the dehorning operation by the electrical method. This compares with 13 1-2 minutes for the same operation when using liquid caustic and 19 minutes with caustic stick.

The electrical dehorning method, Lamaster said, but less painful to the animal and completely bloodless.

The date at which gunpowder was first used in artillery in battle is uncertain, but is believed to be 1331.

Investigators At Arson Seminar

Frankfort.—Four arson investigators from the Kentucky State Police have just completed a seminar and training course in arson detection and investigation at Purdue University, Commission of State Police Guthrie Crowe announced today.

The men, Don C. Young, London; Sam T. Buford, Jr., Louisville; J. B. Wilson, Pleasureville; and Lindell V. Locke, Greenville; spent five days studying and discussing the problems which confront the arson investigator. Leaders and specialists in arson detection served as lecturers for the course.

Since the first session in 1945, the annual arson investigators' training course has been recognized as the international center for this type of specialized training. Being the only program devoted entirely to the specialized study and discussion of arson prevention and control, the course is attended each year by persons from all parts of the United States, Canada and other countries.

"It is the plan of this department to train men in every possible field of crime detection and prevention, and this course these men have just completed will be of great benefit in stopping arson in Kentucky," said Commissioner Crowe.

A Business Without Advertising IS A PERFECT SET-UP FOR TROUBLE

In times of easy-spending perhaps a business is able to get by without advertising . . . although it is not a sound policy. As the public becomes more price-conscious the intelligent merchant steers clear of the rocks of bankruptcy by systematic advertising. It is not necessary for the small merchant to run large ads in fact that extreme may end as disastrously as a non-advertising policy, but, bear this in mind, if you wish the customers to keep returning to your store it is a good policy to keep your store name consistently before them—in the form of newspaper advertising.

Refrigeration Center. The Electric Refrigerator provides ample storage space, and large freezing capacity for ice cubes and frozen desserts. Adjacent work surfaces provide space for food preparation.

To fit your plans, the kitchen of your dreams must be practical. It should do most of your work for you—automatically. It will, too, if it is built around the three "Electric Time-Saving Centers." Your kitchen can be pretty, too, because there's practically no limit to the ways you can decorate it. And it's so easy to keep clean.

You don't have to spend the customary one-third of your time in the kitchen if electricity is helping you. You have more time for leisure.

Small Charge For Testing Soil

The Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station announces that the work of testing soil samples for farmers has become so heavy that a small charge will be made beginning July 1, to cover in part the cost of the work.

It has been the custom of the Experiment Station to make a limited number of soil tests without charge. There was no formal provision for such service, but the limited number of requests made it possible for station chemists to perform the work along with their regular duties. Increased demand, however, it is announced, has made

Berries Bring Cash

Farmers in Knox county are turning to strawberries as a cash crop, notes County Agent Gray H. Williams, a total of 41,350 plants having been planted in April. Roscoe Teague completed his three-acre tract by setting 3,000 plants, and this year harvested berries from 2½ acres. Frost is said to have damaged the crop throughout the county by 60 percent.

It is necessary to make more definite provision for testing soil samples.

Through local assistance, 13 counties in Kentucky now have their own laboratories where farmers can get soil samples tested, and a number of other counties are in the process of organizing laboratories. Technicians trained by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics are in charge. Farmers in counties having laboratories should have their soils tested in them, it is stated.

The charge at the Experiment Station will be 85 cents a sample for the first two samples and 70 cents for each remaining sample when all are sent in at the same time.

Conveniences Help Modernize Kitchen

"Thanks to our lessons in homemakers clubs on step-saving, and with the convenience of rural electrification and bottled gas, I now have a convenient, pleasant and, I think, quite a beautiful kitchen," writes Mrs. C. F. Towse of Webster county.

"Our kitchen is a 16-foot room with a four-foot off-set on one side where the old coal-burning range stood. The dish cabinet was in the far corner of the room 26 feet away. The kitchen cabinet was on the opposite wall. No one knows how many steps I took to prepare a meal but I was often too tired to enjoy eating.

"Now we have built-in cabinets with refrigerator on the extreme right, the mixing center next, then the sink and the clearing-away center, with a 30-inch cabinet space between it and the bottled gas stove.

"Words can't express how much I have enjoyed our step-saving kitchen since we remodeled and rearranged it after the lessons given by Miss Ida Hagman of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics."

In the spring, Yates grows tomato plants and spinach, then later on grows lima beans and soybeans on the same land. He also produces 100 acres of cotton and about 20 acres of corn. Property Values Rise At Ky. Lake

Frankfort.—The presence of a Kentucky State Trooper in the area around Kentucky Lake in Western Kentucky has reduced vandalism far below what it has been in the past, Commissioner Guthrie Crowe stated this week.

"I have received reports from property owners in that area informing me that vandalism is at an all time low since the trooper was stationed there.

Reports also show that real estate values have been raised as much as 300 percent due to this. It is gratifying to our department to know that the Kentucky State Police can be of such a service in the betterment of the state," Crowe added.

A state trooper has been stationed at Kentucky Dam State Park since early spring.

New Registrar At UK

Dr. Lee Sprowles will take over the duties of registrar at the University of Kentucky July 1, it was announced last week by University authorities. Assistant to the registrar since last September, he succeeds Dr. Maurice F. Seay who since 1946 has held two administrative positions, dean of the University and registrar. Dr. Seay will continue as dean of the University with general supervision of the all-University divisions, including the registrar's office. Greatly expanded enrollments at the University made necessary re-establishment of the two positions under separate persons, it was explained.

Simple Methods In Century-Old Recipe

How methods of cookery have been simplified over 100 years ago was indicated to the members of the Cromwell Home-makers Club in Ohio county by Miss Ruth Barnes, foods leader.

"I have an angel food cake recipe that my mother bought in 1910 for $2.50 from a professional baker in Bay City, Mich.," she said "The recipe was 62 years old then, or 101 years old now. It states that the sugar and water syrup for frosting should be cooked until a bubble forms when the syrup is blown through a clay pipe. In contrast, Mrs. Pearl Haak, specialist in foods at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, says the syrup should be cooked until it spins a thread when the spoon is lifted from the pan. Then it is beaten into stiffly beaten egg whites."

Pearl-essence, made of scales from small fish and used to fashion simulated pearls, is so much in demand that Norway has pearl-essence factories near its herring fleet bases.

Letter Washington

By Jane Eads

Washington.—Celebrities come and celebrities go in this bustling capital of ours. From glamorous movie stars to mighty potentates, they are wine and dined and fussed over.

But the visitor who really captured the hearts of all with whom she came in contact, from the President on down, was a beguiling little old lady with pink cheeks and a sprightly manner. . . . Mrs. Anna Mary Robertson Moses, 88-year-old painter from Eagle Bridge, N. Y.

"Grandma" Moses, as she is better known, came to Washington to receive an award for outstanding achievement presented to her by President Truman on behalf of the Women's National Press Club. Later she and five other distinguished women who had received similar awards from the club, including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, were guests of Mrs. Truman at tea at Blair House.

One of the press club officers learned that "Grandma" doesn't like tea. She so advised the housekeeper at Blair House, who ordered that coffee—with three lumps of sugar—be served to her. When told of this special dispensation, "Grandma" raised her hands in dismay and fussed: "Oh, you shouldn't have done that. That makes me feel obligated and I don't like to feel obligated."

"Isn't that refreshing?" the newswoman remarked in relating the incident to Mrs. Truman.

"Yes, indeed—especially in Washington," replied the First Lady.

Later at the party "Grandma" asked Mr. Truman to play the piano. He bowed to her wishes and played a Paderewski minuet while "Grandma" sat on the edge of her chair, shushing other guests quiet. The President told other guests that "Grandma" said she had heard he could play, but "she didn't seem to believe it." When "Grandma" heard about this she retorted: "Why, he is worse than I am. What I told him was that I wished he would play so I could go back home and brag that I had heard him."

Today's most widely used method of artificial respiration was devised in 1903.

UK Alumni Elect Two New Officers

J. Stephen Watkins, Lexington engineer, and Robert H. Hillenmeyer, Cincinnati insurance executive, have been elected president and vice president, respectively, of the University Alumni Association for the coming year, it was announced last week at the group's annual commencement week dinner. The new officers were elected by approximately 4,000 states and former students. University in recent balloting conducted by Watkins succeeds John H. Hillenmeyer, who took office last year. Hillenmeyer's post from Shively, U. K. athletic coach.

Wounded Vet Kazak Now Battles Opposing Pitcher

By Frank Eck
 Features Sports Editor
 New York—Eddie Kazak, 28-year-old rookie infielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, is putting to rest the arms he almost lost in France.
 The blond Pole, born Edward Trzcun on July 18, 1920, in Strabunville, O., was one of 20 rookies the Cardinals took to their St. Petersburg, Fla., training base. He was one of those doubtful cases—good field, no hit.
 Today he is the talk of the National League rookies now that every team has had a look at him. After his first 18 games he led the league with 23 hits in 58 trips to the plate for a .397 average.
 And he's doing it all with his wrists that he nearly lost as a PFC fighting near Brest, France in 1944.
 Kazak was in the Army three years. His teammates say he saw

Tax Raise Approved For Trigg County
 Frankfort, (AP)—The Kentucky Tax Commission has approved requested raises on property assessments in Trigg and Cumberland counties and the Clay school district in Webster county.
 Jess B. Thomas, a commission member, said the raises were needed for school purposes and that demand for the boosts was initiated locally.
 Trigg got a 15 percent increase, Cumberland 10 and Clay 25. Cumberland asked 15 percent but Thomas said the commission felt 10 percent would be adequate.

so much action that he is reluctant to tell how close he came to being stabbed to death by a Nazi bayonet.
 His left forearm bears a huge scar, left by 19 stitches. "They put the stitches in it to prevent infection," says Kazak as he shrugs off the incident. The bayonet just missed a main artery. Coach Terry Moore says after the first thrust, Kazak rolled over, got up and lit out for safer ground. Ask Eddie about it and he just smiles and says, "Let's talk about something else."

The modest ex-coal miner had another close call near Brest soon after the stabbing. Part of his right elbow was torn off by a shell fragment. For almost a year his elbow was "L" shaped and three of his fingers of his throwing hand were paralyzed.

"I Started out in the Air Corps," says Kazak. "Then I was a paratrooper and wound up in the infantry. I spent three years in the Army, half of the time in hospitals in England and California. At Palm Springs the doctors operated on my right elbow and took out a bone half the size of my thumb. That was about one year after I was hurt. Now I have plastic in the elbow."
 "It's really troublesome in the early spring but it's all right now. No, it doesn't affect my throwing, but I hate to play second base where you have to pivot and make those snap throws. Third base is the spot I like best although last year at Rochester was the first time I played third."

"Things happen funny, though. If it weren't for the fact that Whitey Kurowski was out with a bad arm, I probably wouldn't have been playing third base for the Cardinals. Then when Al Schoendienst hurt his ankle in Philadelphia we had two infielders out and I moved over to second base and Joe Glaviano to third."

Kazak suffered another injury when he was 18, just out of high school at Muse, Pa. He had six ribs cracked in a mine when loaded pit cars jumped the tracks about five miles from the shaft.

He comes from the same town, that sent Andy Seminick, Philadelphia's catcher, to the majors. Both worked in the same mine. Oddly enough, both Kazak and Seminick wear No. 21 on their uniforms.

Kazak stated organized ball in 1940 in the Class D Georgia-Florida League with Valdosta, Ga. He was signed by a Knoxville scout. Then the Cardinals got him for $1,000 and a player. They put him at Albany, Ga., in the same league in 1941 and he hit .377, or 86 points over his freshman mark.
 In 1942 he moved up to Hous-

KENTUCKY WOMAN FIFTH—Mrs. Greenwood Cocanougher, of Lexington, one of Kentucky's most capable women fliers, is shown with her plane at Bowman Field, prior to leaving for Montreal, Canada, where she entered the recent Montreal to Miami All-Women air race. Mrs. Cocanougher, who was sponsored by the Reynolds Metals Company, Louisville, finished in fifth place.

ton but hit only .257. The next three years he was in the Army. After being discharged Dec. 19, 1945, doctors advised him against playing baseball. The next spring he had a chance with Rochester but the pain in his arm was so excruciating that he played only two innings.

He wound up with Columbus, Ga., and hit .298 in the Sally League. It was while with Omaha in the Western League in 1947 that the parent organization saw hope of Eddie's baseball future. He hit 20 homers and batted .326.

Kazak reported to St. Petersburg in the spring of 1947 but was under contract to Rochester where he hit 11 homers and batted .311 last season. In the international League all-star game voting he lost out by one point to the Phillies' Puddin' Head Jones, then with Toronto.

Kazak makes his home in Austin, Tex., with his wife and a baby girl born April 1 of this year. He says he was so excited the day the baby was born that he "made a couple of errors and struck out in an exhibition game" against the Barves at Bradenton, Fla. His parents still live in Muse, Pa., where he has three brothers, one a miner, another a millworker and the other selling Navy surplus. Their athletic activity is restricted to semi-pro baseball.

In the first few games, Kazak was used as a pinch hitter. When Glaviano started off slowly, Manager Eddie Dyer put Kazak at third base and he batted seventh. Then the 195-pounder went off on an 11-game hitting streak and Dyer put his fourth between Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter.

Kazak may not belong in that company for he's not a long ball hitter. However, he picked a good time to get his first major league home run. He did it in Brooklyn with the bases loaded. The blond with the plastic elbow may not hit many homers but at present he's the one bright spot on the Cardinals.

Circular Discusses Beef Cattle Breeds

Kentuckians who took a prominent part in importing and improving Shorthorns and Herefords are listed in "Background and Influence of the Beef Breeds of Cattle," a new circular published by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky.
 Written by W. S. Anderson, professor emeritus, the circular deals with the origins of beef breeds, importations into America, contribution of purebreds, the Longhorns and cattle-raising in the West and the functions of breed associations.
 In 1817, Henry Clay imported cattle from Herefordshire, England, to the Blue Grass Region of Kentucky. The same year, Col. Lewis Sanders of Kentucky imported Shorthorns, and for years many of the noted herds of this breed were located in this state.

Homemakers Restore Hats Of Yesterday

A millinery style revue put on by homemakers in Gallatin county illustrated one of the ways they have learned to be thrifty. Thirty hats that two to eight years ago were "the latest style," again met that description as they were modeled by the 20 women who had remade them. Some of the hats had been reblocked so their original shapes were entirely changed. Miss Jewell Wilson, home agent; others had had their color revived with a coat of oil paint or brightened with shellac. Feathers, flowers, ribbons or veiling added the decorative note.

The term "assassin" derives from "hashishin", a group of killers who nerved themselves for murder with hashish, an opiate.

The first machine to make barbed wire was patented in 1874.

T.B. X-RAY UNIT

COMING TO PRINCETON
 At The Court House
 Tuesday, Wednesday Thursday and Friday
June 21, 22, 23 and 24 and Monday, June 27
IT'S FREE!

Be a good neighbor—by having your lungs x-rayed. You not only show your interest in the health of Caldwell county, but you are protecting the health of your home.
 Only two minutes required and no clothing to be removed. Children under 12 years of age will be x-rayed if it is known that they have been exposed to T. B.
 The machine will be set for the large pictures some time during these 5 days. If you have been advised to have a large picture made find out this special time.
 It is important to remember that Tuberculosis has no pets.

X-Ray Unit Stay To Be Lengthened

Will Arrive June 20 And Remain Until June 29

The X-ray mobile unit of the State Health Department will be in Princeton several days longer than was previously announced. Dr. W. L. Cash, county health officer, has been informed by the department.

The unit will arrive Monday, June 20, and the first and second days will be used by the technicians in stimulating interest in the program of X-raying the lungs of all persons in the county as a step toward stamping out tuberculosis in Kentucky. The actual X-ray work will begin at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 22, and will continue Thursday, Friday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the work to be finished June 29.

Hours for X-rays are from 9 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, except Friday when the unit closes at noon. No work is scheduled Saturday.

The unit will be set up on the north side of the courthouse. The X-ray will take only a few minutes and it is not necessary to disrobe, it was announced. Metal brooches, however, will have to be removed. There is no charge for the X-ray.

There is no reason why any working girl should deprive herself of nail cosmetics these days. Stores carry excellent items for hand and nail care well within the budget of the average girl.

Young People Hurt In Bus Collision

Minister And Five Others Treated At Princeton Hospital

Six persons were brought to the Princeton hospital last Wednesday night for treatment of injuries received in a bus-truck collision on a bridge about seven miles from Princeton on Highway 62. Two others were taken to the Hopkins County Hospital, Madisonville. All were from Leitchfield.

The truck, one the Arnold Ligon fleet, was driven by L. A. Wylie, Madisonville, who was taken to Outwood Hospital for treatment of shock. The vehicle was of the tractor lowboy type, loaded with a gasoline shovel. The bus, driven by Charles Layman, Millwood, carried 39 passengers, 34 of them young people of the Leitchfield Methodist Church. They were returning home from a picnic at Kuttawa Springs when the accident occurred.

Those brought to Princeton hospital were the Rev. E. C. Sidle, pastor of the church, and his daughter, Virginia, both released that night; Barbara Jo Cannon, 16; Libby McClure, 15, and Janice Pryor, 12, all of whom have been transferred to Louisville hospitals, and James Hornby, 16, who remained in Princeton.

Injuries were, for the most part, broken limbs, sprains, cuts and bruises, the State Police reported.

Further Light On Waterworks Debt

A news story which appeared in last week's Leader about City taxes and the new tax rate drew an improper conclusion, misquoting Councilman Fred Jake, by stating the added revenue would permit paying the outstanding, non-callable waterworks bonds, in the amount of $59,000, when these come due, in 1954.

The added revenue resulting from a more equitable assessment will permit the City to retire all funding bonds and to pay about half of the non-callable bonds, Mr. Jake said this week.

The City has paid $6,000 of funding bonds, also for the waterworks, since Jan. 1, 1948 (the total then outstanding was $12,000), plus $580 in interest on the funding bonds and $3,097 interest on the non-callable bonds, the councilman said.

Added revenue accruing to the City by adoption of the new assessment valuations, as fixed by the county, will be approximately $3,000 for payment on the waterworks bonds, Mr. Jake said, "which will permit paying this obligation in about one-third the time which would have been necessary under the old assessment."

Age Limit Lowered For Boy Scouts

Youths May Become Cubs At 8 Years; Scouts At 11 Years

Age limit for Boy Scouts has been lowered, effective September 1, on the action recently at a national convention of Boy Scout leaders.

The lowering was Cub Scouts from 9 years to 8; Boy Scouts from 12 years to 11, and Senior Scouts from 15 years to 14.

"We Scoutmasters believe there is more chance of boys continuing Scout work if they are admitted to the ranks at a younger age," Joe Weeks, Scoutmaster of Troop 42, said. "This is one of the things we told national headquarters when questionnaires were sent to us regarding this lowering of age limit."

"There are lots of younger boys around here who would like to be in the Scouts and we think this move will build up our troops, and consequently help develop character and a feeling of good citizenship among our boys," Mr. Weeks added.

Mr. Weeks said in his opinion they could get the boys at a young age and have more time to work with them. Now when a boy reaches the age of 11 he begins to go out more on his own ability and use his own judgment, he said. Through the Scouting program he will begin to learn leadership and how to work and play with other boys in a democratic way, he added.

"Scouters also feel this move will give the older Scouts more responsibility and leadership in handling a group of boys," Mr. Weeks concluded.
